

- discipline: the body is a site for correction; to make live and let die

- the eye of the (invisible) observer is at the vanishing point -> all is subjected to the observation, examination, and rationalization of the observer

- the observer is absent from the perspective view -> hierarchical, asymmetric visibility; unambiguous subject-object ontology

- linear perspective doubles up not only as a way to see, order, and systematize the world (i.e. knowledge), but also as a corrective, normalizing apparatus (i.e. power)

The boxes that contain the balls can be "clicked" away so that the balls vibrate in place within invisible boxes.

Provide a justification of how this supports your reading of disciplinary mechanisms.